National dentist day is celebrated on 6th of March every year. Dental health is often overlooked due to less awareness among the masses, but poor oral health can lead to serious illness such as, diabetes, heart disease and other comorbidities. National Dentist's Day aims to raise awareness of these risks and promote preventative care. Due to the lack of awareness among the masses related to who is a dentist and what are their importance in maintaining an overall well-being of an individual, this year our Dept of Public Health dentistry decided to undertake the event of educating masses on this day. A screening camp was conducted at Muslim welfare association, Kadur on the eve of national dentist day(5/3/23). Dr. Anil Babu, the coordinator of the camp gave a talk on the important and relevance of dentist in diagnosing and preventing oral health disease in modern society. He emphasized about the co morbidities related to poor oral hygiene and the importance of oral health checkup at least once a year. He also spoke about the brushing techniques, flossing techniques to maintain a good oral hygiene. Number of attendees exceeded 50 and screening was conducted for all the individuals.
